4.Currently, we are living in the 20th century. Is that really so? Although indeed we are, the conception of many people still persists as if we are in the 18th century.A major portion of society's people thinks that women are contemptible to man in intelligence and efficiency. Throughout the past and present, women still are the actual victims of stereotyping from our society. Our opportunities are confined because we have grown in a way to fulfill particular locus where the society wants us to be. Though women have obtained some emancipation and have opportunity to work and take parts in several positions in the society but the society's concept of women never seem to innovate. Society thinks that a woman's ought is to do household chores and rear up the children. And so, they shouldn't be allowed to go out and to have any sort of formal education. There are lot of talented female students want to stand on their own feet before getting married and try some new things. But they cannot dare to do so because of the mentality of our society's people. Their academic life stops as soon as they are married off. In this male dominated society, a woman has no economic security, they have to depend on a man.Lots of women who have no idea about their rights so they endure all the oppression that they face because of the mentality of our society, most of the parents are afraid to give freedom to their daughter. A male trying to go overseas to study or work gains the appreciation and encouragement from our society's people. Whereas, if a girl tries to go abroad to study the society's people try to rein her back and sees her with the eyes of hatred. In fact, people in rustic areas can't even think that a girl can even go overseas. I have grown up in a tiny village. I always had a dream to go abroad for my higher studies. When I told my parents about this dream,my parents didn't grant me the permission because they were afraid of what the people of the society would say. I don't blame them for this because I know the mentality of our society. However, I'm so happy that I had been able to explain and convince my parents about studying abroad and even secured a scholarship for that . But still some of my neighbours tries to rein back me and asks my parents why they gave me the permission! They have even said that if they sent their daughter abroad, she will never come back, she will get spoiled. But I'm so glad that my parents understand me and they are supportive. Coming from all these and facing the struggles,I'd like to help people understand that women are living beings as well and we have our own dreams too.I want to make a change for the betterment of the women in our society, especially in the rural areas.
